MET THIS NOON TO CONSIDER PEACE

POSSIBILITY THE NEGOTIATIONS MAY YET FAIL

THE QUESTION OF AMNESTY

With Which is Coupled Demand for Laying Down Arms Seems to be the Stumbling Block.

Cologne, April 15.—The Gazette today published a London telegram which states that difficulties have arisen in the South Africa peace negotiations over the question of amnesty with which is coupled a demand for guarantees in regard to the general laying down of arms as the Cape rebels are not willing to quit unless they receive certain assurances.

"The British government," the telegram said, "is not confident of the finality of the present negotiations."

London, April 15.—In the House of Commons today Hon. A. J. Balfour, government leader, said no news regarding peace negotiations had been received today.

London, April 15.—The new taxes announced by Chancellor of the Exchequer in the House of Commons yesterday caused considerable nervousness on corn exchange today. The imposing of the old time "bread tax" will prove a source of dire hardship to the poorer classes. It leads the millers today to advance the price of flour a shilling per sack.

BOER TERMS
As Outlined by the Leaders Residing at The Hague.

The Hague, April 15.—From those close in touch with the Boer leaders it appears that the latest secret dispatches from South Africa outline the peace proposals now under discussion at Pretoria. They closely follow the summary given on Saturday last by the Evening News of Edinburgh, with the following additional details:

The Boers accept a British Lord Commissioner with a Boer Executive both to be resident at Pretoria.

The country to be divided into districts, with British district officers and a Boer committee chosen by polling, by the burghers. The veto right to be reserved to the British government.

Johannesburg to retrocede to the British with complete British civil organization.

A war indemnity of at least 10,000,000 pounds to be distributed by mixed committees.

Disarmament to occur when the first batch of Boer prisoners is sent back to South Africa.

War tax to be levied.

Both languages to be recognized in the schools and courts and in official documents.

The expenses of the garrisons in South Africa to be borne by Great Britain.

The present Boer leaders to be retained in office so far as possible.

ELK'S LITTLE JOKE
NETS PASTOR $100,000

Leontia, O., April 15.—Rev. R. G. Rosecamp, former pastor of the Presbyterian church here, while lecturing at Denver, was entertained by an Elk, who presented him with some stock in a mine that had been abandoned.

The matter was regarded as a joke. The mine was recently reopened and Rev. Mr. Rosecamp has been offered $100,000 for his stock, and has refused it.

It is believed that rubber is destined to become a most important source of wealth to Peru.

FIVE NEW BABIES ALL ARE GIRLS

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., April 15.—Isaiah Rhodes of Bailey's Gap, Ulster county, announces in this city that his daughter, Mrs. James McGowan, aged 28, of Tucker's Corners, a hamlet in Ulster county, gave birth to five children, all girls and that all are doing well.

Mrs. McGowan's other children are a son and a pair of twins.

HELEN KELLER

The Wonderful Deaf, Dumb and Blind Girl Meets and Talks With the President.

Washington, April 15.—That most remarkable young woman, Miss Helen Keller, deaf, dumb, and blind, yesterday met and talked with and understood everything said to her by President Roosevelt. By placing the fingers of her right hand on the President's lips she heard him relate a story of how young Archie Roosevelt caught a rabbit in the White House grounds.

Miss Keller, accompanied by her teacher, Miss Annie M. Sullivan, came here to spend a day or two of her Easter vacation. The President received Miss Keller and her party in the red parlor, and for a few minutes carried on a conversation with her, Miss Sullivan acting as interpreter.

"I would like to talk with her direct," said the President.

Placing her finger tips on the President's lips she told him to talk. He expressed delight at meeting her.

Miss Keller listened closely and without removing her finger tips from his lips began to talk. The President understood every word she said.

GEN. MILES'

FRIENDS SAY STATEMENT OF PRESIDENT ISN'T TRUE

HE HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH ORD'S RETIREMENT

That Was Result of Latter Being Too Friendly With Gen. Hancock. A Little History.

Washington, April 15.—Army rules and regulations alone prevent the President and General Miles becoming involved in a personal dispute. In the official statement of reasons why the President intends to retire the General, it is said that Miles "secured his promotion to a Brigadier Generalship only through the similar enforced retirement of General Ord." "The General indignantly declares this is absolutely untrue and his friends tell a circumstantial story of how Miles got the promotion."

Of course the statement is not credited to the General, because if it were Miles would be court-martialed. The General's friends say that the retirement of General Ord was brought about absolutely without his knowledge and against the protests of the General's uncle by marriage, General W. T. Sherman.

When General Meyer, chief of the signal corps, died in 1880, so the story goes, Miles became a candidate for the vacancy. President Hayes was favorable, but he thought Miles ought to remain in the line. Miles said he would like to remain as a line officer, but he would prefer to become a Brigadier even at the sacrifice of becoming a staff officer.

Thus the matter stood when Garfield then President-elect, went to President Hayes and asked him to appoint Hazen Brigadier General and chief of the signal corps. President Hayes was then anxious to secure the appointment of Stanley Matthews on the Supreme bench and he agreed with Garfield to appoint Hazen a Brigadier General with the understanding that Matthews was later on to be made a Justice.

General Hazen was appointed December 15, 1880, and at a later day President Garfield fulfilled his part of the agreement. In December President Hayes, to the surprise of Miles and General W. T. Sherman, also retired General R. O. C. Ord then in command of the Department of Texas. General Sherman went immediately to President Hayes and made an earnest protest against the retirement of Ord. President Hayes said he wanted to make Miles a Brigadier General, and that there were other reasons for the retirement of Ord. General Sherman is quoted as saying: "Miles can wait."

Miles' friends insist that Ord was retired because he sent a partisan telegram to General Hancock when the latter was nominated for the Presidency, which read:

"Congratulations from Texas and from Ord."

Political reasons were assigned at the time for the retirement of Ord, although it is believed also that President Hayes was inspired by a desire to recognize the popularity and ability of Colonel Miles, demonstrated as a result of his Indian campaigning. General Ord was retired as Brigadier General and in 1881 was retired as a Major General by act of Congress.

The partisans of Miles insist that it is a matter of record in the War department that General Ord was not retired at the instigation or with the approval of General Miles, nor was he retired as the result of any influence brought to bear by General Sherman or his brother, or any other influential politicians or military clique.

Y. ack, N. Y. The bride, who was worth $70,000, returned home, Barker coming to Tampa to prepare to join her. CIRCUMSTANTIAL Evidence Against Vaughan is Very Strong—The Prisoner Now Shows Signs of Weakening.

Ravenna, O., April 15.—A chain of circumstantial evidence is being forged around William Vaughan, charged with the brutal murder of his step-mother, Mrs. Ella Vaughan, and her mother, Mrs. Martha J. Calhoun, near Mantua Station, Sunday.

The bullets taken from the victims' heads have been examined and weighed carefully and correspond exactly to those found in Vaughan's weapon. The officers found that the murderer had thrown the empty shells into a stove and even that melted mass tallied with the shells in the revolver found on Vaughan. The cartridges are of an old type and cannot be duplicated in Portage county. They are 32 calibre long and very heavy.

Vaughan eats but little and shows signs of weakening. He has told several stories about how the blood spots came to be on his clothing. The preliminary hearing was held before Justice Ingall and Vaughan was bound over to the grand jury.

State Bank Bill.

Columbus, O., April 15.—The Senate today by a vote of 12 yeas to 18 nays defeated the Moore bill providing for the examination of state banks. The bill is dead, as a motion to reconsider made by its enemies, was lost, thus clinching the vote for ever. The bill was favored by the bankers of the State, but the country members opposed it.

JEFFERSON'S BIRTHDAY

CELEBRATED BY DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

WHO COME TOGETHER AND GET TOGETHER.

ALL JOINED HARMONY RANKS.

David B. Hill the Chief Orator, Makes Remarkable Speech for Future Party Unity.

New York, April 15.—The members of the Democratic club last night commemorated the birthday of Thomas Jefferson with a reception at the clubhouse. It was looked upon among the Democrats of the city and state as a harmony meeting.

David B. Hill, who had not visited the club for a number of years, was the chief orator of the evening, and in his speech he called upon Democrats to unite in harmony. Perry Belmont, whose differences with Mr. Bryan and Mr. Croker have kept him away from the club for three years, was also there.

Lewis Nixon, the new leader of Tammany Hall, introduced Mr. Hill, who, after referring to Thomas Jefferson as the patron saint of Democrats, turned to questions of combinations, and said:

"One of the greatest problems which is now presented to the people for their solution is how shall Jefferson's sentiments be utilized for the prevention of the evils which he foresaw? It is not a question for political jugglery. It is not a question to be lightly dismissed."

"It is an elementary proposition which the wisdom of experience has abundantly confirmed, and which, even in these days of unparalleled business combinations and wild speculations, ought not to be disputed, that whatever tends to create a monopoly and to prevent legitimate competition between those engaged in a business impressed with a public or quasi-public character is opposed to a sound public policy."

"It is not for the true interest of any community that a few men should be the employers and that the great body should be employees or servants and this is especially not desirable in a republic where it should be the policy of the laws to multiply, rather than reduce the numbers engaged in independent pursuits and in the profits of production."

"In a free republic like ours an equality of fortunes among our citizens is believed to be desirable, and industrial liberty tends toward that result, and hence is essential."

"It is perhaps difficult to predict how Jefferson, if he were alive today, would meet the difficulties which we encounter. We venture to suggest that he would insist upon some reasonable limitation upon the amount of corporate capital which might be invested in a single corporation."

"Jefferson's teachings might suggest a limitation upon the amount of the dividends which could be lawfully declared or upon the profits which could be legally accumulated by these tremendous business organizations. Or he might demand that the Government, in justice to its overburdened taxpayers, should withdraw its tariff favors from the 'infant industries' represented by these institutions, whose projects are already rolling in wealth, and are astonishing the world by the munificence of their private benefactions."

"We may well believe that Jefferson, who was equal to every emergency in the early history of our country, would, if he were in power, find some appropriate and adequate remedy to curb the rapacity and restrict the dangerous power of these gigantic combinations."

On the subject of colonial extension Mr. Hill said:

"It is safe to believe that Jefferson would never have favored an extension of our jurisdiction which did not carry with it the provisions of our constitution to which he was devotedly attached, and which he defended so vigorously with his voice and pen. He would unquestionably have viewed with abhorrence the establishment of a permanent American colonial system, whether maintained under military rule or under civil authority appointed by the central Government at Washington. His theory was unquestionably the Democratic theory of today—that this Government has no more authority to create a permanent colonial system than it has the right to create a King."

"Jefferson believed in honest men, in honest methods and in honest government. He would have uprooted corruption, had it existed, in either nation, state or municipality."

"These considerations naturally lead to the suggestion that it is peculiarly our duty, as it should be our pleasure at the present time to invite Democrats of character, standing and influence to identify themselves with organized movements for party success, for the promotion of the true principles of Jeffersonian Democracy and the elevation of the standards of the public service."

"Why should we divide over the questionable utterances of modern party platforms, largely designed to meet temporary emergencies which soon pass away, when we are united upon the rock bottom and fundamental doctrines of our faith, intended to last as long as our government itself shall endure?"

"Why should there be factional quarrels over details, when we are all united upon essentials?"

"It is the part of wisdom for the Democracy to push to the front the issues upon which there is substantial unanimity and ignore those in regard to which there are such serious and honest differences of opinion as must be fatal to practical success."

"The administration of President Roosevelt is all at sea. It has no fixed policies and no conscientious convictions. It 'wobbles' upon every public question with which it assumes to deal. The messages and public addresses of the President are merely elaborate treatises upon elementary questions of government, containing nothing new and nothing definite. He has no policy in opposition to that of Congress and is prepared to approve whatever Congress does."

"If any relief whatever to Cuba shall be secured from the present Administration it will be due to the decided stand taken by the Democrats in Congress in insisting that justice should be done."

"The policy of the Administration in the Philippine Islands is a disgrace to civilization. The attempt with regard to these possessions to imitate the foreign policy of England has proved a dismal failure."

"The Administration will send its special representatives to witness the coronation of a King, but it has no words of sympathy to express for the brave farmers of South Africa who are heroically struggling to maintain their republics."

"Republican incompetency to deal with the financial question is almost self-confessed. It was ostentatiously proclaimed that the gold standard had been unalterably and successfully adopted by the McKinley Administration, and now we are told that new and additional legislation is imperatively required for that purpose and in order to preserve the honor and credit of the country."

In conclusion, Mr. Hill said: "Fellow Democrats, on this day devoted to honoring the memory of one who has been frequently styled 'The Wisest and Truest Democrat of His Time,' let us resolve to renew our allegiance to the principles which he inculcated and the policies which he advocated."

"There are numerous indications of a revival of popular confidence in Democratic politics, state and national. A change of measures and of men seems to be imperatively demanded by the best interests of our state and country."

"Our opponents have only succeeded in recent years by unfortunate divisions among ourselves. Let our faces now be toward the common enemy."

"It is a time for unity, for organization, for wise counsels and for aggressive action."

Mr. Hill's speech was interrupted by frequent bursts of applause. At its conclusion Congressman James M. Griggs of Georgia, Chairman of the Congressional Committee, spoke, advocating unity and predicting success for the party if internal differences were forgotten.

MOTHER'S PREMOTION WAS UNERRING

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 15.—Harvey J. Skinner, aged 23 years, who was struck by a B. & O. train Saturday night near Adamstown, died Monday. A strange circumstance connected with the fatality was the fact that he had just resigned his position with the B. & O. at Terra Alta, because his mother thought that he would be killed if he remained in the employ of the company.

ELOPEMENT

Was Agreed to by Her Lover, But Instead Rosa Bayles Hanged Herself.

Sullivan, Ind., April 15.—Miss Rosa Bayles, aged 20, daughter of Amos Bayles, a farmer residing near Fairbanks, hanged herself in her father's barn with a halter last evening as the result of a disappointment in love.

She had been the sweetheart of Ernest Clark, who resided near Fairbanks. Clark had recently returned from the army in Cuba and, it is alleged, promised to marry her Sunday, but the ceremony did not occur.

Monday afternoon he met Miss Bayles and told her that parental objection was the cause of him not appearing and he agreed to elope with her today and marry her at Marshall, Ill. Two hours later the young woman took her life.

KIDNAPERS

SOLD MANY YOUNG BOYS INTO SLAVERY

WHEN GANG WAS BROKEN UP BY MEXICAN POLICE.

Eleven Youngsters Were Held Imprisoned in the House—Taken to Yucatan by Captors.

Mexico City, April 15.—The police of this city have broken up a gang of kidnapers who have been enticing young boys to a house in this city, where the lads were kept prior to being shipped to Yucatan to work on the Henequen plantation. Complaints have been coming in to police headquarters of missing boys and the detectives surmised systematic kidnaping all over the city. The detectives found a house in Peralvillo street, on the outskirts of the city, where 11 boys were discovered. They were kept under guard day and night and insufficiently fed amid foul surroundings.

The men in the house were arrested and taken to prison. They claimed they were only clerks of one Enrique Iglecias, a labor contractor engaged in securing men and boys for work in Yucatan, where the demand for labor is pressing. The 11 boys were to have been immediately sent to Vera Cruz and thence to their long slavery at Yucatan. Subsequently the guards at the house confessed that they were employed by Iglecias to entrap boys and confine them in the house till convenient opportunity should arise for sending them to Yucatan. The boys were met on the streets and promised food, clothing and spending money if they would accompany their abductors.

A large number of boys is missing and the police believe they have been stolen in a similar manner. The authorities will investigate the charges.

The boys so captured are said, on reaching Yucatan to be held practically as slaves, receiving nothing but their food and maintenance.

Iglecias is said to be the head of the gang.

BRUSSELS IS MORE QUIET

ALL ANXIOUSLY AWAITING THE ACTION

OF PARLIAMENT ON DEMANDS OF THE SOCIALISTS.

FUNERALS OF THE MEN KILLED

Will Take Place Tomorrow Morning. All Socialists in Brussels Will Attend Ceremony.

Brussels, April 15.—The city is quieter today than it has been at any time since the rioting began. Everybody is awaiting with anxiety the parliament's action on the demands of the Socialists and on this reply depends whether or not quiet will be permanently restored.

There is an uneasy feeling apparent in the strike centers, and the government is redoubling precautions against an uprising in these places.

The pupils of several schools have been dismissed and the police are now using the school buildings as barracks.

The owners of the Valerie and Malibie mines have issued notices closing the mines until May 5. This action will be generally taken by other mine owners.

A meeting of working men was held at the Maison du Peuple this morning. Defnet, Vandervelde, Delporte and other leaders counselled the people to maintain calmness in the streets but to put forth all their energy in carrying on the strike. It is said there are now nearly 200,000 workmen on a strike in the riots at Huy, Namur and Thuin last evening one gendarme was killed and several wounded.

The funerals of the men killed in the recent riots here will be held at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning. All the Socialists in Brussels will be in the cortege.

Pittsburg, April 15.—A serious cave-in occurred in the Wabash tunnel at 5:30 o'clock this morning at the East End of the Green Tree entry. From forty to fifty feet caved in and thousands of tons of earth now fill the tunnel. So far as can be learned no person was hurt.

RELIGION IN JAPAN.

Japan is thoroughly aroused by the impassioned discussion occupying its reviews and teachers as to the possibility and necessity of endowing the country with a new religion. Japan puts on and off creeds with great facility. Neither Buddhism nor Shintolem nor Christianity appears to be longer to the taste of the wealth and culture of the empire, and they are hunting about for something new. The leaders in the movement express themselves as opposed to Catholicism or Protestantism on the Christian side. The only thing to do, therefore, is to create a new religion, by borrowing the best of existing beliefs, and then reconciling the principles thus elaborated with modern science. As Dr. Enayro, one of the Japanese new lights, declares, there is but one solution possible of the religious problems which vex humanity, and that is to ameliorate and reform the existing religions, but not to try to create a new one, for "it is easier to repair an old building than to build a new one." Other agitators for a new faith believe in building from the ground up. A scientific religion is objected to because few would understand it, while religious principles interest everybody.

THAT SUPPRESSED PHILIPPINE REPORT.

General Miles because of his observation that our military operations in the Philippines had been characterized by severity and cruelty, in urging his new policy on the authorities, got a stinging rebuke both from the President and Secretary of War in their comments on his plan of pacification. It was a subject the general was precluded from discussing, for if he had established the facts it would have been an unfortunate showing, coming from the first general officer of the army. There is no doubt of the facts, bad as they are.

We think the general statement of General Miles has been abundantly confirmed, by correspondence, army courts-martial and the statements of American officers. Our severity and cruelty have been made manifest. It may be said they were a necessary part of war, but this does not mend matters, when we are dealing with a needless war.

The terrible charge is made by Major Cornelius Gardener, U. S. A., acting governor of the province of Tayabas, in Luzon, that one hundred thousand inhabitants of the province of Bantangas, in Luzon, have perished since the war commenced with the Filipinos, by war, disease and starvation. An attempt seems to have been made to suppress this report by not sending it to Congress with documents asked for, but this was frustrated, and the report of Major Gardener was forced to the light the other day by the Senate committee.

It is a candid and fair presentation of conditions in the Philippines, pointing out some of the blunders of American civil and military administration. He frankly admits that the sentiment of loyalty once shown by the natives toward the Americans is rapidly decreasing and a deep hatred is taking its place in four provinces he says, the course pursued is rapidly "sowing the seeds for a perpetual revolution against us hereafter." Under present conditions the political situation in this (Tayabas) province is slowly retrograding. * * * and we are daily making permanent enemies.

Major Gardener continues by saying that the troops often make no distinction between the property of "insurgents" and the property of those who heretofore have risked their lives by being loyal to the United States. In other words, the spirit of "benevolent assimilation" is now unmasked and found to be a demon of carnage and fire, of cruel annihilation. What the Philippine commission has tried to do in the way of giving the situation a semblance of order, the army, it seems, is undoing with reckless disregard. Major Gardener says: "The attitude of the army, thereby meaning most of its officers and soldiers is decidedly hostile to the provincial and municipal government in this province, and to civil government in these islands generally. In Manila it is intensely so, even among the higher officers. The work of the commission in the establishment of provincial government is ridiculed in the presence of natives. It is openly stated that the army should remain in charge for the next 20 years."

The two governing forces in the Philippines are not in harmony and never have been. Their point of view is antagonistic. The soldier believes in the mailed hand. The success of the commission experiment depends on peaceable methods, conciliation and restoration of confidence. The concluding paragraphs of Major Gardener's report are as follows:

It has been stated that a Filipino or an Oriental does not appreciate just or kindly treatment; that he considers it an evidence of weakness, and that severe and harsh measures are the only ones that are permanently effective with Filipinos. I have found that just and kind treatment, uniform and continued, is the only way by which these people can be permanently made our friends and satisfied with United States sovereignty. As an officer of the army, I regret that my duty as civil governor of this province impels me to state the attitude of the majority of my fellow-officers toward civil government in these islands, and its effect upon the people, but I feel that the interests of the Government involved, and the welfare of these people, for whose welfare we are responsible, are of such vast importance that I ought to report things as I see and know them. I order that my civil superiors may be able intelligently to order what the situation demands.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and what the last few years have been supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C. "Don't you think," I inquired of the prosperous looking man with the heavy mustache and watch chain, who was dressed in the 14 inch talk line suit, "that the world is getting better?"

"ZEB WHITE, FULE."

AFTER A QUEER EXPERIENCE HE DECIDES THAT IS HIS TITLE.

He Succeeded at His Wife's Advice. She Warned Him of a Coming Landslide, but He Was "Cautankrous" and Wouldn't Listen.

(Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.)

I had mews as was peaceful minded, and I've had mews as was cantankrous," said the old possim hunter as we sat before the big fireplace in his cabin on the Cumberland mountains, "and I ain't sayin' that I blame the cantankrous. If human bein's git cantankrous, why shouldn't mews? That was a time when I used to git as sot and onery as any mawl yo' ever heard tell of, and I was jest thinkin' of one of them times. When I built my first cabin on this yer mountain, it was jus' up to the foot of a hill. Folks told me that a landslide would come along some time and make matchwood of that cabin and bury us thirty feet deep, but I wasn't to be skeered out of a good location on that account. I was buildin' so as to be nigh a spring and a road, yo' see. Once in awhile as time went on that'd be a slip to the right or left of us, but nuthin' to do any hurt. We'd lived there about three years when a peddler came along one day and said I was either a fule or flyin' in the face of Providence. Way up there, half a mile above us, was a big bluff of airt and rock, and when I went up to look at it one day I kinder made up my mind that about a week's rain soakin' into the ground around that would start a slide. I reckoned we oughter git away, but it was a tight cabin, with three acres of rich side, and of co'se I felt like takin' chances. We kept talkin' 'bout movin', but also kept holdin' on, and so a week passed. Then spring got in, and it rained and rained. I never did see it pour down so steady and so long. Reckoned it rained fur 'bout 'leven days, without a break. One mawnin' jest befo' daylight the ole woman woke me up jest as I was 'dreamin' of cuttin' down a tree with thirteen coons roostin' on the limbs, and she sez to me, sez she:

"WHAT YO' SITTIN' FUR?" HE SAID.

"Zeb White, git up?"
"What fur?"
"Reckase yo' wanten be a gittin'." "A gittin' fur what?"
"A gittin' out this yer cabin. I've heard the trees and rocks crackin' up there fur the last hour, and I tell yo' we are gwine to hev a landslide!"
"What do yo' make a study of land-slides? sez I, feelin' mortal mean 'bout losin' all them coons."
"Zeb, don't be a fule."
"One in the family is 'nuff, I reckon." "That fird her up. 'Deed, but I felt so mean 'bout them thirteen coons, with counsins bringin' six bits in cash that f'r, that I sorter wanted to git up a row. It didn't take long. She jumped over bed with her jaw set, and when I got up she was sittin' on a stone out in the yard with an umbrella over her head."

"What yo' sittin' fur? sez I as I looks out."
"I'm a-sittin' to sot," sez she as her ears worked and her toes dug into the sile."

"What yo' sittin' to sot fur instead of gittin' breakfast?"
"None of yo' bizness."

"She was mad, and I was mad, and so I goes in and gits breakfast and don't look out agin till I was through. She hadn't moved an inch, and she looked madder'n ever. I looked up at the bluffs, and my har' began to curl. I could see a change, and I knowed that there was gwine to be a slide fur shore. So I sez to her, sez I:

"Ole woman, we baint got ten minits to git out this. Grab up what yo' kin and foiler me!"

"What's the rumpus, Zeb? she calmly asks as she begins to hum a tune."

"Gwine to hev a landslide, and it may cum any minit. 'Fears to me the whole hill is makin' ready to move right down on our cabin, and if we don't git out we shall never be heard of no mo'."

"What did yo' make a study of them air landsides, Zeb?"
"Don't make no fule of yo'self, ole woman, fur things up there is already shakin'."

"One fule in the family is 'nuff, I reckon. Yo' kin so right on. My ole man says that's no danger of a landslide, and so I'm goin' to sot right here."

"I begged her pardon and consoled her," said Zeb, "but it was no use. I took hold of her, but she mighty nigh bit my thumb off. I could hear the trees shakin' up there and was jest a-d-d and I sez I'll:

"Ole woman, are yo' sot?"
"I ned I am, Zeb!"

"And are yo' gwine to take chances?"

"I would be no saggard. 'Cause she gwine to sleep, and slumbers' gits filled me. With aversion strong and deep: 'Cause I likes to feel the sunlight, and I likes the starlight, too. And I like to watch the seasons, Without nothin' else to do."

MY SELF CONSTITUTED SISTER

(Original.)

We had had a cold, stormy passage from Southampton, but the morning we sailed up New York bay was warm and light and beautiful. I had been abroad studying and was coming home to settle down to my profession. When the steamer was docked, I stood near the ship's end of the gangway waiting for a chance to get ashore. In one hand I held a suitcase, in the other a bundle of strapped rugs. On the dock I noticed one of the ship's officers standing beside a young lady very prettily and tastefully dressed. He was pointing my way. I thought nothing of the incident, though I was especially struck with the appearance of the young lady. As soon as the crowd thinned I started to go ashore. At the foot of the gangplank I was astonished to feel two feminine arms thrown about my neck and a shower of kisses rained upon my face by the young lady I had noticed from above.

"Oh, Will," she said, "I'm so glad you've come! We've been waiting for the steamer ever since yesterday afternoon."

"I know—did you recognize me?"
"One of the ship's officers pointed you out. I asked him if he would let me know when you came ashore."

"Why, William Brown, of course." She looked at me in surprise, then, drawing slightly away and scanning me critically. "Aren't you?"

"Of course I am. And you?"
"Alice Brown, your sister. Who else should I be?"

"Nobody else. How did you know I was coming?"
"By your letters. What makes you not so funny?"

"I—I haven't been well."
"You bad boy! You said nothing in your letters about having been ill. Why didn't you let me know?"

"I mean seaskick."
"Oh, that's nothing!"

Meanwhile we were moving along the dock and reached a carriage before which the girl stopped.

"Put your baggage on the front seat," she said.

I stood irresolute. It was evident that the young lady had made a mistake. So far I had not been culpable, but if I continued to leave her uninformed I would deserve to be keel hauled. Besides at the end of the drive somebody would be likely to recognize me as being the wrong William Brown. Nevertheless she was so pretty, so affectionate, so rejoiced to see me after my long absence, that I could not bear to break the spell. And when she discovered that she had been kissing a strange man it might break her heart. I got into the carriage.

It was a long enough drive up town, but it seemed very short to me. I found it difficult to keep up appearances and only succeeded in doing so by excusing myself for my lack of memory and my blunders by the great length of my absence. I discovered in the course of the conversation that I had been abroad ever since I was fourteen years old, that our mother was not living and our father had married again, we being the only children by his first marriage.

"Ah, here we are!" she said as we turned a corner. "We'll be at home in a few minutes."

I shuddered. "Alice," I said, "let us drive in Central park before going home. There is something I want to tell you."

She took fright at once. "Anything unpleasant? Have you got into any trouble?"

"No; I've had a very pleasant episode."

"Oh, Will, you're engaged! I know you are. And I was so in hope that you and I would be together."

"I am not engaged."

We were in the plaza. I called to the coachman and told him to take us for a drive in the park, and in a few moments we were bowling along over the smooth roads of this fairland, with its wooded lawns, its terraces, its grass grown rocks, its lakes, all gleaming in the sun of a bright summer morning.

"Now, Will," said my self constituted sister eagerly, "what is it?"

I had passed numberless pitfalls in my time, but they were nothing in comparison with the present situation.

"Suppose," I said, "a young man meets a young lady who at their first meeting wins his heart by her innocence, her beauty, her gentleness, her womanly qualities."

"I know it! You're in love!"
"I suppose that this girl mistook the man for some one she had long known—a father, no, not a father—a brother. He, charmed with her sisterly affection, having no real sister, permits her to continue in her mistake. What punishment should be received?"

"Why didn't you tell her at once?"
"I couldn't bear to break the spell."

"Who is she?"
"You. You have made a mistake. I am Will Brown, but not your Will Brown."

We drove to her home in silence, and on reaching it she alighted before I could arrest her and ran without a word of adieu to me into the house. She rushed into the arms of a young man, the right William Brown, and I drove away as he was smothering her with kisses.

I found a mutual friend who pleaded my cause with Alice Brown, and at last I secured permission to call upon her. Since her brother had returned with a love story similar to the one she had expected me to tell I devoted myself to excusing her for her separation. I have been consoling her ever since.

EVERY DAY

THE OLD MAN SITS BY WIFE'S CASKET

AND IN IMAGINATION CONVERSES WITH THE DEPARTED.

Only a Few Days in the Past Nine Years that He Has Not Visited the Tomb.

New York, April 15.—With feeble, tottering steps Jonathan Reed made his way through Evergreen Cemetery yesterday to the tomb in which rests the body of his wife. There have been a few days since she died, nine years ago, that he has not made the journey but the sands of life are running low and his long pilgrimage is near an end.

It took all his little strength to open the granite door and enter the vault. Then he walked to the hermetically sealed coffin in which his wife's body lies, and said:

"Good morning, Mary; I've come to sit with you all day."

He spoke the words soft and low, as if soothing a child who was ill. Every morning it is the same. Never does he fail to greet her and talk to her just as he did in life.

When I was his wife good night and leaves the tomb he goes into a little room in a house at No. 150 N. Fourth street, in Brooklyn. Early in the morning he starts back for the tomb. In the few last months he has been arriving later and later, for the spark of life in his frail body is growing dimmer and dimmer; his day is nearly done. Though his clothes are old and threadbare he wears a large diamond—the one she loved to wear him. He has never been without it since she died.

Mr. Reed was born on a farm in Rensselaer county and worked there until he was 21 years old, when his father died, leaving him property to the amount of $200. He says that up to his father's death he had never had five cents in his life. When he was 23 years old he came to New York and went into the restaurant business under Tammany Hall. He saved every cent with a miserly instinct for when once he began to make money he began to hoard it.

He met Mary Guild, daughter of a wealthy manufacturer of sugar refining machinery. Being a handsome, smart young fellow, he won the girl's heart and they were married. He went into the trucking business and made money. His wife was wealthy, and the boy who never owned a nickel until he was several years a man, began to know what money can give.

Reed always was a devoted husband. He loved his wife and she loved him. So their whole life was a honeymoon. "We're still on our wedding tour," he said today. "Isn't Mary pretty?" and the old man showed a picture of the girl who won his heart and whom he soon will join.

DAY'S NEWS IN RAILWAY CIRCLES

FIREMAN FELL FROM HIS CAB WITH PARALYSIS.

Alvy J. Ellis Commenced His Career in Newark Fifty Years Ago—Local Railway Notes.

Joseph Slack, a well known B. & O. yard fireman, was taken suddenly ill Monday evening, with a slight stroke of paralysis. He lost his balance when stricken and fell from his engine, severely spraining one of his ankles.

He was taken to his home on Cedar street, in Bowers & Bradley's ambulance, where he is resting very well today.

He Began in Newark.

Alvy J. Ellis, a veteran employee of the Pan Handle, who was retired on pension January 1, 1901, writes as follows to the Railroad Editor of The Columbus Dispatch:

"Fifty years ago today I commenced my railroad career and as few men live that long in that business I concluded to jot down a few of the incidents of my experience. In the year 1851 I was clerking in the National Hotel at Newark, Ohio, and among the patrons of the house was J. G. Thompson, who was superintendent of the Central Ohio railroad then being built. The road had been completed from Zanesville to Newark and that portion of it was in service.

"Mr. Thompson and I became quite good friends which ended in his offering me a chance to do some railroading. I gladly accepted Mr. Thompson's offer and just fifty years ago I took charge of ten lusty sons of Ireland and began putting in cattle guards. Later I took charge of a gang of hands in a gravel pit loading gravel for ballast and shortly afterwards was made conductor of a gravel train.

"While acting in this capacity I met with an accident which came near ending my life. In hauling gravel we used four wheel dump cars, the bodies of which were held in places by a side brace, which when removed let the car tip up, unloading the gravel instantly. My duty as conductor of the train required that I should personally see that the switch was right for the main track leading out of the gravel pit. On this occasion I got my train out on the main track all right and signalled the engineer to go ahead. I climbed on the rear car and started to walk over the train. The road runs along the Ohio canal at this point, and there was a high board fence to prevent the train from frightening the boat horses. We approached a slight curve in the track just as I stepped on one of the cars and a sudden jerk caused the brace to fall and I and the gravel were artistically deposited against the fence. Nearly buried in the gravel I lay still until the train passed over me and then scrambled to my feet and started for Newark. I met my engine coming back to look for me.

I remained in the train service only a short time, my ambition being to run an engine. I went into the machine department and afterwards secured a position as fireman. I fired an engine 14 months and was given an engine, May 10, 1854. From that time until the fall of 1884 I was at the throttle.

"It makes me feel sad to think of the many men who were engaged in railroad business at that time who have answered the last roll call and have joined the silent majority. There is H. J. Jewett, D. W. Caldwell, Thatcher Perkins, all of whom I served under in the capacity of engineer, and am proud to say that I enjoyed their friendship and confidence.

After running an engine 29 years and seven months I resigned and went into the shops as an engine inspector and held that position up to the last three years of my service with the Pennsylvania railroad. finished my railroad career on January 1, 1901, being retired on a pension at the age of 70 years."

B. & O. and Pan Handle Will Compete. There is to be no elimination of competition between the B. & O. and the Pennsylvania, says the Pittsburgh Post. Although the Pennsylvania controls the B. & O. as far as stocks are concerned, it is the intention to preserve the competition to stimulate work in all departments and increase the traffic for both systems. All of fires are to be maintained and all officials now working for both roads will be retained. The object is to continue building up the business of both roads under present controlling arrangements. The spirit of competition will be maintained and the men who can do the best work will be recognized.

Local Railway Notes.

Columbus, April 15.—State Treasurer Cameron will sell in a few days the bonds of the Ohio Debenture Company held by him and the distribution among the creditors of the company will be made within two or three weeks.

Practical People

Practical Men and Women are Learning How to Live.

Practical men and women have learned that food has much to do with their physical condition. If one will live naturally and eat proper food, the body will be healthy and the brain active.

Business men and women have solved this problem for themselves and endeavor to eat those foods that nature demands.

The human body must have elements of nutrition. The brain and muscles demand certain foods and the tissues others.

An investigator who has made foods and their action on the human system a study, has discovered that certain cereals properly blended and prepared would furnish muscle and rebuild the lost gray matter in the nerve and brain cells and that the emulsified oil of nuts contained just the elements of nutrition demanded to rebuild the daily waste of tissue.

He has put his idea into a ready-to-use food called Malt-Nut. The grains contained in the product are subjected to intense heat which takes them through the first and hardest stages of digestion, they are then treated to a specially prepared malt and the emulsified oil of nuts.

This makes Malt-Nut a brain, muscle and tissue building food, containing all the elements of nutrition demanded by nature.

It has a delicious rich, nutty flavor, and a few spoonfuls served with half milk and cream, so pleases the palate that it becomes a regular addition to the meal. Malt-Nut can be served into many appetizing dishes.

THE PRESIDENT

Of the City Council, Wilkesbarre, Pa., Cured of Rheumatism.

Col. Wm. J. Harvey, a president of Wilkesbarre's city council, who will long be remembered for his great work for the city, was once a mere physical wreck, torn in every muscle and nerve from the frightful pains caused by rheumatism. He consulted the best physicians, went abroad, took mud baths, and almost every known treatment for the disease. One of the city officials had had a very similar experience and Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy had cured him, so he recommended this great kidney medicine to his friend, and Col. Harvey is today a well man, hale and hearty. In his own abrupt way he states his case.

Dr. David Kennedy,

Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I was permanently cured of rheumatism by the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Remedy.

WM J HARVEY.

Nothing could be more direct or more to the point than this simple statement.

Rheumatism is but another name for uric acid poisoning which is caused primarily by diseased kidneys. Cure your kidneys and the rheumatism disappears.

For all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, as well as sickness peculiar to women, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is unquestionably the greatest medicine known to the medical profession.

PUNCTUATION

Of a Telegram, or, Rather, the Lack of It, Led to the Holding of an Election.

Toronto, O., April 15.—All over the punctuation of a telegram sent here yesterday afternoon, a great furor was created and an election held. Heretofore the Toronto school election occurred the second Monday in April. March 19 of this year the Ohio legislature changed the date to the first Monday.

The school board not hearing of it in time advertised the school election as usual for this afternoon. The point of its legality being raised the Secretary of the board wired the State School Commissioner as follows:

"Will school election held today be legal?"

The answer came: "No old members will be held over."

There was no punctuation, so technically it meant to go on with the election or at least so the board decided. The commissioner evidently intended a period after "no," but the operator on investigation could not discover it.

T. C. Weir and Daniel Hinkle were elected and the legality of the election must be subsequently determined.

Her Magnanimous Decision.

"And so they have made up their quarrel?"

"Oh yes. As soon as she saw she was wrong she concluded to accept his apology."—Puck.

ROCK IN HIS STOMACH

Wonderful Cure of Dyspepsia—A Much Talked-of Case.

Borders on Miraculous—Blood Wine Succeeds after Physicians said: "No Hope."

Mr. Edgar H. Warren of Waterville, Me., is a much talked-of man, because he has been cured of what he terms "Rock in the Stomach." His case, which has caused much widespread interest, has been the topic of discussion at nearly all of the recent medical gatherings, here and abroad. His experience almost rivals the wonderful surgical operation of a year ago, when in Sweden a man's stomach was completely removed, and he entirely recovered. These things merely go to show what can be done with the digestive organs when the proper means is available. Mr. Warren has this to say: "I called it 'Rock in the Stomach' because I felt at the time as if there was a rock lodged in my stomach, about the size of an egg. It was so apparent that no one could make me believe different. People have stones in bladders, and I thought, 'Well, I felt it for about a year. It was particularly prominent after meals, and gave me excruciating pain. Nothing would relieve it. Nothing would remove it. It became a constant burden, and so prominent that I could almost feel it with my hand. I also suffered as a result in many other ways.' I would taste my food for hours after eating, and the gases and juices from the stomach were very nauseating. My appetite fell off until I ate very, very little. My weight ran down until I was about like a skeleton, and I thought my end was not far distant. Physicians came after the other treated me, and after making no headway, would remark that there was 'no hope.' I began to despair when 'Blood Wine' was recommended to me. I thought, of course, that if a regular physician couldn't help me that nothing else would. 'Try it,' said one of my friends. 'It will not cost you much, and if it doesn't cure you it surely won't hurt you.' This seemed plausible, so I went and got a bottle and took it, and it helped me. I got another; it worked like the first. The third, fourth, and fifth followed, and I continued to improve. I have just finished the sixth, and my last, for I am now thoroughly cured. My rock has disappeared, also the pain, nausea, gas, and other symptoms. My regular weight has returned, and I have no further complaints. I am going to do all I can for 'Blood Wine,' in return for what it did for me, and I have no hesitancy in saying that it is undoubtedly the best medicine for all forms of indigestion, stomach and bowel trouble, and constipation, ever sold or prescribed."

This is just one of many who speak highly of this great medicine. Blood Wine contains no wine or opiates, but ingredients that bring about almost instantaneous action. "Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle, but you can sample it free of charge.

H. A. HOLCOMB KILLED BY TRAIN

CAR WORKER LEAVES FOUR LITTLE CHILDREN

And Widow Whose Condition is Said to be Critical—Stepped in Front of a Train.

One of the most distressing fatal accidents that ever happened in Newark, occurred between 9 and 10 o'clock Monday evening, on the C. & N. division just east of the Baltimore Bent Works, in West Newark, the victim being Howard A. Holcomb a car builder at the Jewett Car Works.

Mr. Holcomb worked all day, and during the supper hour, between 5:30 and 6:30 o'clock, he came to town and was examined for membership in the Modern Woodmen of America, by the medical examiner, Dr. W. E. Wylarch. His application had been filed, acted favorably upon by the local camp, and he would have been a member in a few days.

After the examination he returned to the car works, and with John Carter and Virgil Sanders worked until nine o'clock, when he left the works in their company.

It was Holcomb's custom to walk from the works east on the railroad track a distance of not more than 100 yards, and then take a short cut across lots, back of the Bent Works, to his home, 40 Grant street.

Carter and Sanders bade Holcomb good night at the Williams street crossing and he started east on the track. A west bound freight was coming up the grade and the unfortunate man stepped off the track to let it pass, right in front of fast passenger train, Pan Handle No. 20, east bound, which was coming down the grade at a terrific rate of speed.

He was struck by the train and instantly killed, his neck and back being broken, and also his right arm and right leg.

His companions of a moment before were soon at his side, having been almost eye witnesses of the dreadful accident, but life was extinct.

Coroner Scott Evans was notified and he was soon on the scene. The body was ordered removed and Bowers & Bradley's ambulance took the remains to their undertaking establishment where they were prepared for interment, and this morning they were taken to the stricken home on Grant street. The funeral has not yet been arranged for.

Some idea of the force with which Holcomb was struck may be obtained from the fact that the works of his watch were knocked out of the case.

The deceased was aged about 30 years and was considered a capable workman, a genial companion, and a highly esteemed citizen.

He leaves a wife and four small children. The result of the shock to the widow, who is now in a delicate condition are viewed with great apprehension, as it is feared the accident may result in three lives being snuffed out.

For the Boozey Fighters is the Decision That a $5 Fine is the Limit of Penalty.

Columbus, O., April 15.—A decision that will affect the police ordinances of every city in Ohio has been handed down by the Circuit Court in Columbus county. In brief it is that no City or Village Council can punish or make an ordinance to punish any act which a law of the state declares a crime and punishes.

Henry Kirkbride and Patrick O'Connor, having been fined by a Justice of the Peace, were fined by Mayor A. P. Dennis, of Wellsville, for the same offense—assault and battery. Judge W. H. Hole of the Common Pleas bench, declared the ordinance invalid, and ordered the fines refunded.

The Circuit Court affirming his decision, states a city ordinance duplicating a statute is invalid. Judges J. B. Burrows and John M. Cook concur in the opinion. Judge P. A. Laubie dissents. It is expected that the matter will come to the Supreme Court.

In most cities ordinances provide heavy penalties for drunkenness, the maximum being 30 days and a $50 fine. The state law, Section 6940 says, "Whoever is found in a state of intoxication shall be fined $5."

From this it would appear that the drunkards can hereafter dodge the workhouse if they can produce a five dollar note. The various loitering ordinances carrying imprisonment clause are also rendered null and void.

BEEF TRUST Investigation to be Pushed—No Prosecutions Thus Far Have Been Made—Charges Sifted.

Washington, April 15.—Representative Ray of New York, chairman of the House committee on judiciary, to whom was referred the Thayer resolution calling upon the attorney general for information relative to the prosecution of the alleged beef trust, has written a letter to Attorney General Knox concerning the matter and has received a reply, which he will lay before the judiciary committee at its meeting today. The attorney general's letter will not be made public until it is presented to the committee.

Mr. Ray said: "I have no doubt that the attorney general of the United States will immediately probe the matter of the alleged beef trust to the bottom and prosecute all offenders promptly and vigorously if there is substantial evidence that the law has been or is being violated."

Reliable information is to the effect that the department of justice in the alleged beef trust matter has not gone beyond the point of an investigation into the question of whether or not the trust has violated the Federal law. No prosecution has been summoned to determine the question, so far as the department knows.

Chicago, April 15.—United States Attorney S. H. Bethea, following instructions given by President Roosevelt and Attorney General Knox, will make a searching inquiry into the workings of the so called beef trust in Chicago, in relation to the Sherman antitrust law.

Washington, April 15.—The House committee on judiciary has received a letter from Attorney General Knox in which letter he says that some time ago he directed a thorough investigation to be made by one of the United States District attorneys to ascertain whether such a combination as the beef trust exists. It is apparent from this correspondence, says the report, that there is no necessity for the adoption of resolutions like that of he report of Mr. Thayer.

Washington, April 15.—Representative Thayer (Dem., Mass.) this morning appeared before the House committee on judiciary to urge action on his resolution on calling on the Attorney General for information relative to what steps he has taken to the investigation of the so called Beef Trust. He made an impassioned appeal to the committee, begging them not to remain supine while the laws were being violated and the great trusts were throttling the people.

TAX LAW OUTLINED BY SECRETARY OF STATE LAYLIN

FOR BENEFIT OF THE BUSINESS MEN OF OHIO.
Dates for Paying Fees to the State Reports That are Required of Corporations.

Columbus, O., April 15.—Secretary of State Lewis C. Laylin has prepared an official statement for the benefit of those who are expected to pay taxes under the Willis bill. It is as follows:

"Under this law all corporations doing business in Ohio, except public franchise corporations, are required to file annual reports with the Secretary of State and pay annual fees therefor.

"During the month of May corporations for profit organized under the laws of Ohio must file reports and pay a fee of one tenth of one per cent on the subscribed or issued and outstanding capital stock, and to be not less than $10 in any case.

"During the month of December corporations not for profit, and having no capital stock, are required to file annual reports with the Secretary of State, and pay an annual fee of $1.

"A corporation incorporated or admitted to do business within a period of six months prior to the first day of the proper month of payment is not required to file its first report until the corresponding month of the following year.

"Upon the filing of the report and payment of the fee the Secretary of State is required to deliver to the corporation a certificate of its compliance with the provisions of the act. "If a corporation for profit fail to make the report and pay the fee within the time required by the act, it is subject to a penalty of $500 and an additional penalty of $100 for each day's delinquency.

"The Governor, Secretary of State and Attorney General upon good cause shown, may, in their discretion, remit the penalty of any part thereof.

"If a corporation not for profit neglect or refuse to make and file a report the Attorney General may bring an action to revoke its charter.

"A corporation aggrieved by the decision of the Secretary of State in fixing the annual fee may appeal to the Auditor of State, Treasurer of State and Attorney General.

"A corporation for profit which shall hereafter abandon its corporate purpose and retire from business in this state may terminate its liability to make a report and pay a fee by filing a certificate of such fact with the Secretary of State and the payment of a fee of $5. For filing such certificate of a corporation not for profit, $1.

"A corporation not in active existence at the date of the passage of the act may become exempt from its provisions by filing a certificate or affidavit with the Secretary of State and the payment of a fee of $1.

"The mere retirement from business or voluntary dissolution of a corporation without the filing of such a certificate or affidavit will not exempt it from the requirements of the act.

"Blanks for annual reports, certificates of dissolution and retirement, and affidavits of nonexistence will be furnished on application.

"These blanks will also be forwarded to County Auditors for distribution to the corporations of the several counties."

A LYNCHING MAY OCCUR

COLORED MAN IS ARRESTED FOR DES MOINES MURDER.

Negro Miners to Number of 300 Arrive in Town to Protect "Their Colored Brethren."

Des Moines, Ia., April 15.—As telegraphed to the Advocate yesterday Lena Peterson, 46, and her younger brother, children of Dairyman P. J. Peterson were murdered Sunday night on their return home from church.

James Hutchins a negro, 27 years old, was arrested yesterday afternoon by the police as having some connection with the murder. He had on the back of his coat the imprint of a bloody hand. He gave a rambling account of where he had been during the night.

The body of the girl was found at the foot of a telephone pole in a ditch two feet deep. She had been foully injured by the assailant. At the base of the head she had been hit with a hard instrument resulting in the fracture of the skull. On the crown of the head there were four or five indentations, all of which would have proven serious if not fatal.

Last night 300 colored coal miners nearly all armed, came to the city and made for the jail with the intention of "protecting their colored brethren in the jail." Many were arrested and relieved of their firearms and knives.

Believing it had been baffled by the removal of the men suspected of the murder of Peter and Lena Peterson, the mob surrounding the city jail disbanded at midnight, but when it became known this morning that the report was only a ruse of the officers and that they had the prisoners here, the mob began to form about the jail, but as yet it is perfectly orderly.

Indications point to a lynching as soon as it becomes known that the right man is in custody. Twenty-five men, mostly negroes, are being held for investigation. Winchesters have been stored in the city jail ready to defend it against attack. Pawnbrokers have been warned to cease selling weapons. A number of negro miners and two dozen friends of the prisoners, all heavily armed, were disarmed this morning.

A Handy Bag.
This little receptacle will be found very convenient for soiled laces and handkerchiefs or embroidered pieces which are not to be consigned to the general laundry bag.

It can be made of silk or, if desired, of wash material. To make the bag proper take a large circle, say twenty-four inches in diameter. Face the edge all around to a depth of one inch and a half with some material, then sew the two together half an inch nearer the edge to allow room to pass the drawstrings.

Now take a fancy bordered handkerchief sixteen or seventeen inches square, cut out a six inch circle from the center and bind neatly the raw edge thus made. Draw the strings in the bag apart so that it will be the size of the handkerchief's inner circle and sew the handkerchief in place to form a drapery to the bag. A little tassel at each of the four corners of the drapery and at the bottom of the bag, plenty of ribbon on each side for drawstrings, used also to hang up the bag, and the receptacle is ready.

Identical Pillows.
The newest and most beautiful cushion covers are made of gathered chiffon. The chiffon is so drawn as to look like flakes of foam, and very full quadruple flounces are set at the edge. To shape a cushion like a heart is to invest it with a new appearance. Some of the smartest even have wreaths of tiny roses or forget-me-nots at the base of the flounces.

In the big shops embroidery motifs are sold made of lace at a few cents or dollars, according to their value, a dozen. These applied upon clear muslin make pretty sofa cushions.

MURDER MYSTERY AT PITTSBURG

WIDOW AND HER LOVER ARRESTED FOR THE CRIME.

Telltale Letter Turned Over to the Police—A Man's Infatuation for Another's Wife.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 15.—William J. Byers a young man of prepossessing appearance and manner has been arrested at his home in East Pittsburg for the murder of August Layton, near Turtle Creek, last spring.

Byers was trapped through the agency of a letter written to a young woman telling of the crime and she in turn was responsible for his arrest by telling the story to detectives.

Byers confessed to having shot Layton five times and after a talk with the prisoner, Superintendent of Police McAleese concluded that the killing was the result of a conspiracy, and ordered the arrest of Layton's widow who is now the wife of Frank Williams, of East Pittsburg.

Byers at one time boarded at the Layton home in Turtle Creek and is said to have been infatuated with Mrs. Layton. His story as told to the police authorities clearly implicates the woman in the murder.

The young woman Byers wrote to giving the clue is Gertrude Culp, formerly of East Pittsburg, but now residing in Cleveland. The murder of Layton last May was an unsolvable mystery to the officers and had been practically dropped until the story was told by the Culp woman.

Byers last night after a trying time in the swat box, broke down and told the story. "I killed Layton," said Byers to Detective McGovern as he threw himself on his breast. "For God's sake save me."

"I was in love with her and she loved me. She hated her husband and said we must kill him."

"It was arranged on the night of June 15 that I must kill him."

"I was to accompany him to McKeesport and kill him on the way. When we were on the farm of Edward Taylor on the side of the hill, I stepped back of him and shot him in the back. Layton fell to the ground. Then I put four shots in his head."

"I dragged the body to a clump of trees and threw brush over him. I went to the home of Mrs. Layton and spent the day and night with her."

"We went to a dance that night and had a good time together."

THE PHI GAMMA'S NEW HOME.

DOWNER RESIDENCE AT GRANVILLE CHANGES HANDS.

It becomes the S. S. Chamberlain Lodge of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity.

Granville O April 15—At noon today the E M Downer residence on Broadway, one of the finest properties in the town, passed into the hands of the local chapter of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity and the members of the Lambda Deuteron chapter are in consequence supremely happy as the deal gives the Denison chapter a fine home.

The real estate transaction was engineered by Dr Wm F Chamberlain, a prominent manufacturer of Dayton, Ohio and an alumnus of Denison, class of 1893. It was wholly through Mr Chamberlain's efforts and very largely through his generosity that the Denison chapter was made a present of the property. The cash consideration for the residence was $6,000, which Mr Chamberlain paid today.

The house will be known as the S S Chamberlain lodge of Phi Gamma Delta in memory of Mr S S Chamberlain who died a few years ago in California. He was a former student at Denison.

The Phi Gams will not take possession of the property until the middle of August.

PAINE'S Celery Compound The Great Spring Medicine.

While It Drives Out the Seeds of Deadly Disease It Quickly Builds Up Flesh and Muscle.

A Truly Wonderful Restoration After Failures With Other Remedies.

Mr. R. J. Patterson, Says:

"I Owe My Life to the Wonderful and Speedy Curative Powers of Paine's Celery Compound."

Thousands of families today mourn the loss of near and dear ones who, when sickness first came upon them, were forced to use other medicines instead of the great disease banisher, Paine's Celery Compound.

We earnestly appeal to the relatives and friends of the suffering to break away from the bondage of medical etiquette and dictation, in order that the suffering ones may have a surer and happier hope of a new life.

The one remedy known to medicine that can bring vigor, strength and permanent health to the weak, run down, rheumatic, neurasthenic, dyspeptic and those burdened with kidney and liver troubles, blood diseases and derangements of digestive organism, is Dr. Phelps' great medical prescription Paine's Celery Compound.

Weak, rundown, sleepless, despondent men and women will find inspiration and comfort in the following letter written by Mr. R. J. Patterson, of Sheridan, Pa., who was fully restored to the blessings of life after use of the great medicine that truly "makes sick people well." Mr. Patterson says:

"I was greatly troubled with insomnia and felt as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. I finally lost my appetite and could not bear to even look at food. I was so weak that I almost despaired of getting well again. Before I had used the bottle of Paine's Celery Compound I felt like a new man. My brain has become clear, my sleep refreshing, and my appetite excellent. I find work a pleasure instead of a burden. I owe my life to the wonderful and speedy curative powers of Paine's Celery Compound."

COURT HOUSE NEWS OF A DAY

MRS. GRANT STOUT COMMENCES SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

Assignment of Cases—Business of the Day in Circuit Court—Ready Transfers.

Alice Stout, by her attorney T. L. King has filed a petition in the Common Pleas Court asking that she be decreed a divorce from her husband, Grant Stout. The parties to the suit were married Nov. 19, 1887, and one daughter, now 12 years old, was the fruit of said union. For cause of action the plaintiff alleges that the defendant has been wilfully absent from her for more than 12 years, and that he is an inmate of the Columbus State Hospital for the Insane, but that he had been wilfully absent from her for more than three years before he became an inmate of said hospital. She also alleges that defendant has never done anything for the support of her and her child for more than twelve years. She therefore asks that she be decreed a divorce and the custody of the child.

Many Deeds Recorded.

The number of real estate sales both in the city and county this spring is phenomenal. For some days past the deeds have been coming into Recorder Rutledge's office at the rate of fifteen or sixteen per day, and sometimes more. Recorder Rutledge and his deputies now have work several weeks ahead, and the deeds are still coming in faster than they can be recorded. Mr. Rutledge says that the number of real estate transfers recorded this time last year was not half what it is this spring.

A Cough

is an effort to relieve the irritation of inflamed throat, bronchial tubes, larynx and lungs. Vinol soothes and heels this inflammation, builds up the waste tissue and strength, and cures the cough.

"Mr. W. J. HAMILTON, 1706 Timea St., Electrician for The Garton-Daniels Co., authorizes me to say that you are at liberty to publish a testimonial over his signature, to the effect that his wife was left with a severe cough after the La Grippe; loss of appetite, and, as he expressed it, got right down to the bottom rung of the ladder. After taking Vinol the cough disappeared, appetite returned, and she is now feeling first-class and is getting strong and gaining in flesh."

"I feel it my duty to thank you for introducing Vinol in Joliet, as I know that it was the means of saving my little girl and restoring her to health. Here are the facts. About a year ago my child was taken with a severe attack of Bronchitis, one lung was completely filled, and while she recovered from the Bronchial trouble, the affected lung, remained useless. My daughter began to fail again. I became very much worried and decided to try Vinol which you so highly recommended. When she had finished half the bottle she was taken very ill and vomited large quantities of mucus, but when the vomiting ceased we found to our great joy that the filled lung was entirely free."

Came To Life.

Patterson, N. J., April 15—Aless. Scazeletta, an Italian, was being carried out of the county jail in a coffin yesterday after having been pronounced dead, when he suddenly sat upright in the coffin. The undertaker's assistants let the coffin drop and fled.

Scazeletta was found in his cell in a stupor. The jail officials sent for a physician who pronounced the man dead. Scazeletta was arrested last Thursday for acting as though demented. After two days he talked incessantly in jail but on Saturday he apparently lost the power of speech. He is now well again.

"Wooden" Wedding.

"Riverside", the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. James Dickinson, north of the city, was the scene of much enjoyment on Monday. The occasion was a surprise tendered Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson by a large number of their friends in honor of their fifth wedding anniversary. The surprise was a most complete one, but Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson soon rallied from the shock, and devoted themselves assiduously to the task of entertaining their self-invited guests. A sumptuous repast was spread, to which all did ample justice, and the time was passed in having a good social time. When the time for parting arrived all expressed the wish that they might have the pleasure of assembling at many more of their anniversaries, and that their future life might be one continued round of pleasure. Those who were present were Mrs. John Dickinson, Mrs. Chas. Eagle, Mrs. Wm. Seymour, Mrs. Scott Seymour, Mrs. Walter Ashley, Mrs. Robert Dowling, Mrs. Stephen Ashton, Mrs. W. W. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Broome, Mr. and Mrs. F. Helmke, Mr. and Mrs. Art Holler, Mrs. May Jamison, Mrs. Lester Nutter, Mrs. G. W. A STUBBORN COLD OR BRONCHITIS.

yields more readily to Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil than to anything that you can take, and if persistently used a few days, will break up the cold. When you awake in the night choked up and coughing hard, take a dose of the Emulsion, and you will get immediate relief, where no cough medicine will give you relief. It has a soothing and healing effect upon the throat and bronchial tubes.

PROVERBS

Given to Young Men by Carnegie—Millionaires the Best Bees in the Hive.

New York, April 15.—In his new book, entitled "The Empire of Business," which is to be published by Doubleday, Page & Co., Andrew Carnegie says:

"It will be a great mistake for the community to shoot the millionaires, for they are the bees that make the honey and contribute most to the hive, even after they have gorged themselves full. Here is a remarkable fact that the masses of the people in any country are prosperous and comfortable just in proportion as there are millionaires."

Mr. Carnegie also gives this advice to young men: "Boss your boss just as soon as you can; try it on early."

Here are other proverbs: There is scarcely an instance of a man who has made a fortune by speculation and kept it.

Never indorse.

Always break orders to save owners.

No young man every lived who has not a chance.

There is always a boom in brains.

A basketful of bonds is the heaviest basket a young man ever had to carry.

Let no man know more of your speciality than you do yourself.

It is a great mistake to think that the man who works all the time fails in the race.

SOME REASONS

Why Newark People Should Follow This Valuable Advice.

Because the proof is in Newark. You can thus investigate the claims. When investigated they will prove satisfactory.

It demonstrates that theory gives way before facts.

Mr. T. Henderson, No. 489 Baltimore street, says: "I can only say that after giving Doan's Kidney Pills a trial, they showed themselves to be all that was claimed for them. I had a good deal of pain over my kidneys."

If I contracted a cold, no matter how slight, it always affected them first, and as a result my back grew worse, being frequently so painful that it was more than I could do sometimes to straighten up. The urine was of a bad odor and color—evidence that the kidneys were not altogether right.

After I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills at Crayton's drug store all this trouble was corrected. The kidneys passed strong and free from pain."

AMUSEMENTS.

So conspicuous has been the success of "The Princess Chic" elsewhere that Manager Rosebraugh is to be congratulated upon having secured an engagement of this piece. The Kirk La Shelle Comic Opera company presenting "The Princess Chic" ranks easily among the foremost musical organizations and the opera itself is so well remembered as to render little comment necessary. However, for the benefit of those who may not have been so fortunate as to witness the performance heretofore, it might be well to state that "The Princess Chic" is an opera comique rather than a comic opera. At first thought, it would seem that these terms are synonymous and yet the technical difference is that an opera comique is a coherent dramatic story set to music, while a comic opera, according to modern usage of the term, may mean any kind of a farce set to music and interspersed with specialties. The prima donna role, that of the Princess herself, is assumed by Maude Lillian Berri, formerly of the Maude Lillian Berri Opera company, at the Studebaker, Chicago. Miss Berri's coloratura-soprano is said to invest the part with a charm which it did not heretofore possess. "The Princess Chic" is on its way east after a marvelously successful Pacific Coast tour, and lovers of mirth and music are looking forward with great anticipation to its presentation here. The date is Saturday, April 12.

Every member of Licking Camp No. 32, should be present at the meeting tonight. If the Spanish-American Volunteers want this bounty petitions must be presented to the members of the legislature from every command which participated. Let there be a good turn out as some action will be taken tonight. Don't forget it is tonight. By order of

IN MEMORIAM.

The Early Close of a Sweet and Beautiful Life on Earth.

A beautiful life was closed on earth when the freed spirit of Frances D. Stewart passed into the blessed hereafter. Closed on earth so far as its mortal manifestation in human flesh is concerned, though it still lives in sweet memory and in hallowed influence, that shall last as long as those who came within the impulse of her gentle, womanly spirit, shall live.

Frances D. Stewart was the daughter of the late James Robinson, Esq., and Julia A., his wife, former prominent citizens of this county, and was the youngest of a family of six children, four of whom preceded her to the better land. She was descended on her father's side from Judge James Taylor, a pioneer judge of Licking county, and on her mother's side was the grand-daughter of Col. Benjamin Wilson, of Virginia, a prominent officer of the Revolutionary war, in virtue of which she was a member of the American Revolution.

She was born June 26, 1860, on the home farm in Newark township, four miles north of Newark. Here she lived all her life, and here she passed away Saturday morning, April 12, 1902, at 6 o'clock, in the forty-second year of her life. She had been in failing health for some time, the last illness being of several months' duration, and the immediate cause of her death was heart failure. Her death, though not unexpected, was sudden, and a great shock to those who loved her.

She was married on the 16th of November, 1887, to Willard J. Stewart, Esq., who survives her. Three children were the fruit of this union: James, aged 13 years; Ruth, 9 and Gilbert, 6, who are all living and who are bereft at this tender age of a loving mother's care. Her only living sister, Mrs. Judge E. M. P. Brister, is the last surviving member of the once large family. The funeral services were conducted from the late home on

S. Boyce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Newark, officiating, and the interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

The departed was a woman of rare womanly qualities. She combined a fine intellect and strong character with those sweet, attractive graces and charms that always characterize the true woman. She fulfilled the various relations of daughter, sister, wife and mother in an ideal manner. While her generous nature went out to all who needed her sympathy every where, yet her little world was her home, and her devotion to her family and her only living sister, was rare and touching. Her Christian faith and character were shown, not so much by mere formal profession, as by the pure, unselfish, loving life that she lived. Duty was her watchword and she followed her Master daily. He has called her to "come up higher," where there is no more death; where she is happy with the loved and the lost gone before, and where the loved ones left behind a little while, may join her when life's fitful fever is over.
